

H.S. ALUMNI VOTE TO INCORPORATE

Action Taken to Enable Organization to Act as Trustee for Magazine Club Loan Fund.

DIRECTORS ARE APPOINTED

Plans Proposed to Add to Fund which has been Started by the Friday Magazine Club.

Articles of incorporation of the Alumni Association of Shields High School are being prepared and as soon as they are completed will be filed with the secretary of state. Action to this effect was taken at the called meeting of the association held last night at the high school building at which time the charter which had been prepared was adopted, and officers and directors necessary to incorporation were elected.

The incorporation of the association will enable it act as trustee for the loan fund for helping members through college which has been started by the Friday Magazine Club. The Magazine Club some time ago decided to establish such a fund, and the Alumni Association was considered the proper organization to take charge of it, and the incorporation will give it the legal right to act in such a capacity.

The purpose of the Alumni organization is to devise plans to add to the sum which the Magazine Club has donated, and provision for this is made in Article 8 of the charter, which says that "The Board of Directors shall have the power to solicit and collect money, and to receive gifts for the creation of a loan fund, or funds, to be used in aiding worthy members of the association to attend college."

The purpose of the organization as set forth in another article, shall be "to encourage higher education and promote the welfare of the Shields High School and members of the Alumni Association by giving appreciative encouragement to all worthy activities of the school; by providing for the social and educational improvement of the members of the association, and by securing and maintaining a loan fund for the purpose of aiding worthy members in securing a college education."

As soon as the incorporation is effected, another meeting of the association will be called, when the formal transfer of the Magazine Club fund will be made to the association, and plans formulated for the building up of the fund. The present senior class has signified its intention of turning the proceeds of the annual class play into the fund, with the stipulation that it be used for a member of their class. Members of various classes have suggested the idea of each class making a donation to the fund, and some such plan may be carried out. Another plan that has been mentioned is that the Alumni Association give an annual play or entertainment of some kind, the proceeds to go to the fund.

The officers and directors elected at last night's meeting were as follows:

President, Thomas Galbraith; Vice President, Roy Niehaus; Secretary, Bernice White; Treasurer, H. C. Johnson.

Directors for three years: Thomas Galbraith, H. C. Johnson, Miss Anne Mills.

Directors for two years: T. H. Montgomery, Bernice White, Mrs. C. D. Hopewell.

Directors for one year: C. R. Switzer, Ross Baldwin, Roy Niehaus.

THOMPSON CAR TO BE SENT TO FRANCE

Roadster Driven by Victim of Lusitania, Given to Military Staff by Mrs. Thompson.

DEFINITE PLAN UNDECIDED

Announced that Roadster will Not be Assigned to Any Particular Army Service.

The big, blue roadster which was driven by the late E. Blish Thompson, who lost his life when the Lusitania was sunk off Kinsale, Ireland, last spring, will be presented to the French military staff by Mrs. Thompson. The car, which is a high powered machine, is now at an Indianapolis factory where it is being put in first class condition for field service. When it was taken to Indianapolis several weeks ago it was stated that it would be given to the hospital corps but at that time it was said that nothing definite had been planned about the disposition to be made of it.

Mrs. Thompson said today that the whole plan of giving the machine to the general staff of the French army was indefinite and it was not known when shipment would be made. She said there would be very little work to do on the car to make it available for field service. She regretted that publicity had been given to the gift by an Indianapolis morning newspaper and said it was her intention to say nothing about it except to a few close friends.

The machine which will in time go to the French army staff, is the one that attracted much attention here during the fall festival more than a year ago. Mr. Thompson, himself, drove the machine which was designed as a submarine in the automobile floral parade. In order to carry out the war-like idea Mr. Thompson stained his face and the white suit which he wore with red ink. Mrs. Thompson was a passenger in the car.

The liner upon which Mr. Thompson lost his life is the one which is involved in the settlement with Germany at this time. Mr. Thompson gave his life belt to a lady passenger just before the ship listed and jumped into the water expecting to be able to keep himself above the surface until rescued by life boats. Mrs. Thompson was picked up by a raft and later taken to Kinsale in a life boat.

The machine which will be presented to the French government is a racing model and is capable of great power. Automobile men say it is well adapted for field service and may be used by the officers. Mrs. Thompson said she did not know that she would designate in which branch of the army service the machine should be assigned and would probably permit the staff to place it where it was most needed.

TRUSTEES TO SELECT PLACES FOR PRIMARY

Practically Same Rules Apply to This as to the General Election in November.

The trustees of the various townships will have the duty of selecting the voting places for the primary in March, according to the instructions of the county commissioners. The primary will entail almost as much trouble as the general election as practically the same rules and regulations apply. The trustees will likely decide on the voting places for the primary that will be available for the general election. However, they are not required to use the same places for both elections. The selections will be made shortly so the owners can arrange in ample time for the election.

Trapper Finds Rabbits and A Weasel Frozen to Plow

Rockford comes to the front with the most unusual "flood story" of the year of how several rabbits, minks and a weasel were found frozen to the steel sections of a plow upon which they had taken refuge from the high water.

Tullard Able, a trapper, hunter and fisherman who lives near Rockford, was in the bottom lands soon after the flood waters had subsided. He entered a tool shed on a farm and there found the animals imprisoned as their front feet were frozen to the steel. Apparently they had gone into the shed when the river began to rise over the lowlands and the water lacked but a few inches of covering the plow.

In a final struggle for life the little animals had placed their fore feet on the steel sections of the plow so as to keep their heads above the surface. Before the water receded there was a sharp drop in temperature. Their feet were wet and readily froze securely to the steel. After the water disappeared they were unable to release themselves and were held prisoners.

Able at first was unable to understand why all the animals were hanging by their front feet to the steel. Upon investigating he found that they were covered with a heavy coating of ice. He decided to take one of the rabbits home with him and when he attempted to remove it the ice held the feet so securely that the front legs were torn off.

Believing that the temperature would remain so low that the ice would not melt before the following day Able returned home with the intention of returning the next day to kill them. It is said there were six or seven rabbits, five minks and one weasel on the plow.

During the following night, however, the weather turned much warmer and it is believed that the ice was melted, releasing the little prisoners as the animals were gone when Able returned.

HORSE INSTANTLY KILLED UNDER WEIGHT OF BIG TREE

Second Was Badly Crippled When Hit by Branches—Loss for Silas McGathy, of Surprise.

While cutting timber in a woods several miles southeast of Surprise today, a heavy tree fell upon a team of horses belonging to Silas McGathy, killing one of the horses and badly crippling the other. The better horse was almost instantly killed. The animal was valued at $150. The other is badly bruised but it is not believed that it will be necessary to kill it.

The choppers had a large tree almost ready to lower when a heavy wind sweeping through the branches causing it to unexpectedly fall. The tree fell across the horses. The one that was killed protected the other from the full weight of the tree and after some difficulty the animal was removed from under the branches which surrounded it.

TEAMSTERS BUSY WHILE HIGHWAYS ARE FROZEN

Sleet Reported Falling in Several Townships May Again Tie Up Road Traffic.

Sleet was falling in several parts of the county today and the farmers feared that the roads would soon be so slick that they would be impassable. A heavy sleet was reported in Hamilton and other townships in the west part of the county.

Farmers and timber men are taking advantage of the freezing weather for heavy hauling. After the high water the roads were in such condition that it was almost impossible to haul a heavy load over them. Since the freeze, however, much timber has been carried over the roads. A heavy sleet at this time would practically put a stop to hauling.

UNITED STATES AND ARMOR PLATE MEN IN STRUGGLE

Senator Committee Reports Out Bill Appropriating $11,000,000 to Erect Plant.

By United Press.

Washington, February 8.—The United States and the armor plate manufacturers lined up today for the biggest fight in their history. The senate naval affairs committee before it recommended the passage of the bill for the government manufacture of arms was warned by Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, that the private plants will immediately go out of business. Also that until the government plant is completed they will add $200 a ton to armor plate. The government intends to use 120,000 tons of armor plate in its building program. This would mean an additional expenditure of $24,000,000.

"We will find some way to beat that aggregation of robbers," was the comment of Chairman Tillman after the meeting.

The committee reported out a bill appropriating $11,000,000 immediately to construct an armor plate factory with an annual capacity of not less than 20,000 tons. This would be sufficient to supply all government needs.

MARSHALL MAY BE RULED OFF TICKET

Non-Committal Democrats at St. Louis Meeting Leave This Impression by Attitude.

TAGGART FOR INDIANA MAN

Clark Howell, Oldest Member of National Committee, Calls Bryan a "Public Nuisance."

By United Press.

St. Louis, February 8.—The non-committal attitude of the Democrats here today attending the meeting of the sub-committee on arrangements for the national Democratic convention to be held here believe that Vice-President Marshall will be ruled from the national ticket in June.

Thomas Taggart, committeeman from Indiana, stood alone in championing the vice-president. The gossip among the politicians indicated that Marshall will meet considerable opposition for second place.

"William Jennings Bryan is a public nuisance. He will attempt to stir up all the trouble he can between now and the time of the convention in June."

This was the statement of Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution and oldest member in point of service on the national committee.

Costello was one of more than 100 defendants indicted with Bell and other Democratic leaders. Following the verdict for Bell in his trial, the conspiracy charges were dropped and thirteen of the original defendants were re-indicted with specific crimes charged against them. Prosecutor Rucker elected to try Costello first.

Judge William H. Eichhorn, who tried Mayor Bell, was special judge in this case. Change of venue was taken from Judge Collins.

CABINET TAKES UP LATEST PROPOSAL

Before Meeting President Wilson and Secretary Lansing Hold an Hour's Conference.

ADJUSTMENT MAY BE MADE

Germany Contends That it Has "Practically" Admitted Illegality of Lusitania Sinking.

By United Press.

Washington, February 8.—Final settlement of the Lusitania negotiations are now up to Ambassador Bernstorff. Administration leaders are "hopeful" that a satisfactory agreement will be reached within 24 hours and probably at a conference between Ambassador Bernstorff and Secretary Lansing today.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing today passed on the memorandum which was submitted by Bernstorff last week and this afternoon Lansing will tell Bernstorff just what this government has decided. In view of the fact that the memorandum is said to have indicated additional concessions on the part of Germany would be made if necessity demanded, it is believed that changes in the memorandum will be suggested to Bernstorff this afternoon.

By United Press.

Washington, February 8.—The Lusitania situation looks very hopeful it was said at the White House today following a conference between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing.

By United Press.

Washington, February 8.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing a few minutes before ten o'clock today took up the consideration of Germany's latest proposal to dispose of the Lusitania case.

Their conference was held in the president's private office in the White House.

The discussion occupied a full hour. At eleven o'clock Secretary Lansing left the president's private office and went by a rear way to the executive offices for the cabinet meeting.

The secretary would not talk. To every question he only shook his head.

Out of the conference it was expected would come the decision of the American government as to the acceptability of Germany's so-called "last word."

The latest information from high administration sources was that nothing short of absolute admission of the illegality of the sinking of the liner with disavowal of the act would be accepted by the president.

German information was that the memorandum from the German foreign office, which Lansing carried to the White House today "practically" does this and that Germany has left little for the United States to concede.

The cabinet met at eleven o'clock and considered the Lusitania matter. Later today Ambassador Bernstorff may be told of the government's conclusion.

VOLUNTARY WAGE INCREASE TO B. & O. SHOP FOREMEN

Announcement Comes on Heels of News That All Machinists Will Receive Higher Pay.

Following upon the heels of the official announcement that all B. & O. wage earners, skilled as well as unskilled men, would be granted a voluntary increase in wages of one cent on the hour effective February 1, came notification from Baltimore this morning to the officials at the shops that all foremen and all assistant foremen employed in the Washington shops would be granted increased pay beginning February 1, says the Washington Democrat. These men are on a salary basis, hence the increase granted to the men last week did not benefit them, but today's announcement that the company had voluntarily granted them increased pay brought joy to the shops.

The action of the railway company is prompted by the great prosperity which this country is enjoying, permitting the railway company to make more money and enabling the railway to pass prosperity along to the men. As a result of the increase in pay given the 1,300 B. & O. Southwest-ern employees here, the pay roll will be greatly increased, an additional sum amounting to about $1,300 being distributed among the men every two weeks.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hal's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

COSTS LITTLE TO FIND OUT

No need to spend a huge sum to find out "if there is anything in newspaper advertising."

The manufacturer does not have to make an outlay to cover the whole country.

He can take one section at a time—a few cities—check results and prove for himself the quick response of dealer and consumer.

He can predicate his advertising appropriation on assured profits, not on guess work.

Manufacturers seeking suggestions along this line are invited to write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

Hopkins. The improper handling and sale of liquor was the charge made against the defendants.

The convicted men, with the exception of Hopkins and Marley, have been registered pharmacists employed in local drug stores. Hopkins has sold out and gone to Texas, while Marley owns and operates a drug store here. All of the convicted men have been caught several times selling liquor illegally, detectives of the state board of pharmacy obtaining evidence against them. The preponderance of evidence against the defendants was so conclusive that the licenses of all six men were revoked by unanimous vote of the board.

GIBSON WOMAN CLAIMS BODY AT THAT OF HER HUSBAND

Gary Police Refuse to Surrender Corpse, Claiming Sufficient Proof is Lacking.

By United Press.

Gary, Ind., February 8—Although Mrs. Michael Mishu, of Gibson, "positively identified" the corpse of an unknown man found here as that of her husband who disappeared recently, the Gary police disputed her claim and refused to turn the body over to her.

Mrs. Mishu's husband, they said, was nine inches shorter than the corpse.

Mrs. Mishu was so insistent that burial was delayed. Wishu jumped a bond of $500 when he disappeared, and the police asserted his wife had been influenced to claim the body to cover his flight.

The body was found near the place where the Rev. Kayser was mysteriously murdered.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face."

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though, of course, it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'santanel' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Santanel tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

The Constipation Curse

Constipation—clogged bowels cause pain and sickness; 95 per cent of our ills, say the authorities. Santanel Laxatives bring quick relief. All vegetable—contain no calomel. Ten doses for a dime at any druggists. Physician's sample free, upon request, if you mention this advertisement. The Santanel Remedies Co., Inc., 800 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

THE DISEASE OF ORATORY.

It appears that many congressmen have the erroneous idea that they are not doing their duty unless they are filling the pages of the Congressional Record with oratory of a kind which should be silenced. Congressmen, of course, have the privilege and should exercise it, of speaking their sentiments upon any question up for discussion. But at this time when international relations between Germany and America are at a breaking point it seems that due consideration of the remarks that are made by the congressmen and senators should be made. These representatives are looked upon as representing the American people and what they have to say carries a certain amount of weight abroad.

An illustration of some of the untimely speeches that have recently been made is the one in which a Democratic congressman referred to the destruction of the Canadian parliament building. The officials were not certain as to the origin of the fire, yet this congressman openly charged "secret plotters of the German government" with the deed. If this congressman knows the origin of the fire to such a certainty that he can "make a speech" about it he certainly ought to make his knowledge public as it might help clear up the situation.

In the first place the congressional halls of this government are not the place to discuss problems which do not concern this country. The Canadian fire has not in any way involved the United States and so far as known now never will, unless such speeches as that recently uttered should bring about complicating circumstances.

At this time senators and representatives ought to exercise unusual precaution in framing their utterances. A sentence or a word might be misinterpreted or misunderstood and result in serious complications.

LOOK FOR END OF LUSITANIA CASE

Resentment Against German Embassy Reports.

U. S. POSITION THE SAME

State Department Officially Announces That This Country Has Not Changed Its Stand on Issue—More Acceptable Offer Is Possible.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The fact that President Wilson has delayed his conference with Secretary Lansing over the latest German offer in the Lusitania case is being urged by officials of the state department against too much being taken for granted one way or another as to the final outcome of the controversy.

Already, it is apparent, there is being manifested in White House circles, a resentment against reports emanating from German sources regarding the extent which the Berlin memorandum does or does not conform with the American demands.

Mr. Lansing, who had refused heretofore to comment on these reports, manifested a strong resentment against a statement attributed several days ago in the Berlin press dispatches to Under Secretary Zimmerman of the Berlin foreign office that the United States government at the last moment should have presented demands which Germany could not accept. Commenting on this statement, Secretary Lansing dictated the following:

"This government has not increased the demands made in the Lusitania, as set forth in the notes of May 13, June 9 and July 21. I doubt if Dr. Zimmerman ever made the statement that new demands had been injected, because he must know now that it is utterly false."

Following this the secretary again stated that the note was unchanged from what it was when the Berlin proposals were received.

Chairman Stone, of the foreign relations committee, which called at the White House shortly after this statement was made, left with a distinct idea that a settlement is in sight. He said that his impression was that the Lusitania case was "practically settled" and that he was not in the least apprehensive over the outcome. The senator from Missouri added, however, that there may be a further exchange of notes between this government and Berlin.

Persons in close touch with the German embassy continued to express the utmost confidence in an early settlement on the basis of Germany's communication.

Significant perhaps of the reasons for the delay on the part of the administration in passing judgment on the German memorandum is the fact ascertained from certain administration officials is that the president thinks that Count von Bernstorff, for the Berlin office, has in reserve a still more acceptable offer, should the United States reject the last proposals.

That the president may have a suspicion that Count von Bernstorff is holding back something in the present situation, is suggested in certain quarters as a possible explanation of Senator Stone's statement that there may be another exchange.

DENOUNCING MEDICINES

Wholesale denunciation of proprietary medicines is no more justifiable than wholesale denunciation of the medical profession. It is no more true that there are reputable physicians who unselfishly devote their lives to an unending struggle with disease than that there are standard remedies which do as good a work; often where the work of the good physician cannot reach. A good example is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has for forty years been alleviating the sufferings of women and curing the ills peculiar to their sex.

Frank Poor, of Anderson, Was Losing Weight When He Started Taking Tanlac.

Anderson, Ind., February 7, 1916.—Frank Poor, a motorman for the Anderson City Railway Co., and a well known Anderson man, recently made the following statement regarding Tanlac, Master Medicine:

"I suffered from a nervous affection of the stomach. My appetite deserted me, and, at the same time I was unable to sleep at night. I naturally began losing weight and my condition became run down. I was extremely nervous and felt bad nearly all the time.

"I have gained eleven pounds since I began taking Tanlac two weeks ago. I feel fine now, sleep well, and my stomach is in perfect condition. In fact, I feel better in every way, and I want to recommend Tanlac because it has done me a world of good and made a new man of me."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, has proved equally beneficial for thousands of other Indiana men and women. It is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, rheumatism, nervousness, and is a tonic, invigorant, and blood purifier.

Tanlac is sold exclusively in Seymour at Carter's Drug Store.

WINTER VEGETABLES.

CURRIED TOMATOES.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one teaspoonful of chopped onion and cook until yellow, then add six sliced tomatoes and cook gently until soft. Mix one tablespoonful of flour with one teaspoonful of curry powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few grains of cayenne pepper, moisten with one-half cupful of cream, pour the mixture over the tomatoes, stir until thick and serve on hot buttered toast.

POTTED HARICOT BEANS.—Potted haricot beans are made by first soaking the beans over night. Then skin them and cook until tender in boiling salted water with two onions. Drain away all water, mash smooth with drippings of butter, season agreeably with salt, pepper and nutmeg, remembering that rigorous exclusion of air will insure freshness for at least two weeks.

How to Make "Mulligan."—Butter the size of an egg, one onion, one small head of cabbage, one can of tomatoes, salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Put the butter in a saucepan, let it melt, then add the onion cut into slices, allow it to brown; then put in the cabbage, which has been chopped up or run through a meat chopper. Let the mixture cook slowly, stirring it often so as not to let it burn. After it has cooked for twenty minutes or half an hour add the tomatoes and seasoning and cook slowly two or three hours.

PARSNIPS.—If the parsnips are young scrape and lay in cold water, but if old they will have to be pared and split lengthwise. Let young parsnips cook in a porcelain kettle in salted water for forty-five minutes, but old parsnips must boil about an hour and a quarter. Drain and serve with drawn butter.

Baked Macaroni and Cheese.—One-half pound of macaroni broken fine and cooked in plenty of hot salted water twenty minutes. Turn into a colander and pour cold water over it. Make a sauce of two cupfuls of hot milk, one large tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of flour and salt to taste. Put a layer of grated or prepared cheese in bottom of baking dish, then a layer of macaroni, then sauce, and repeat until the dish is almost full. Cover with breadcrumbs and butter. Bake till brown.

LORD KITCHENER

Reported War Minister Is to Leave British Cabinet.

KITCHENER TO LEAVE CABINET

Predicted He Will Go to the Far East.

SUCCEEDED BY ROBERTSON

Belief That Strong General Head Is Needed to Protect Suez Canal From German-Turco Menace Leads to Kitchener's Selection.

London, Feb. 8.—The comparative tranquil atmosphere that has marked the domestic political situation for some weeks, has given way overnight to a feeling of restiveness, until political London is a flutter with excitement and speculation, centered upon Lord Kitchener. The Earl of Khar-teum's future incumbency in the office of secretary for war seems again in doubt. This time, unlike previous occasions, doubts are based on concrete facts, not guesses or political attacks.

A revolutionary change just made in the functions of the secretary of war is the structure from which rose during the last twenty-four hours a number of strong possibilities all culminating in the expectation of sweeping changes in Great Britain's military administration. This change consists of a new order whereby the British chief of staff, General Sir William Robertson and not, as heretofore, the war secretary, "shall be responsible for issuing orders of the government regarding military operations."

This sensational order, by which Lord Kitchener is practically superseded in the foremost function of his office was at once taken up by the press as a substantial sign that the days of Earl Kitchener as war secretary are definitely numbered.

One report was insistent and found such general credence that the press and public attach much significance to it. That was that Lord Derby, of the recent recruiting campaign fame, is to become war secretary. In some quarters Lloyd-George is mentioned as the successor of Lord Kitchener, while in military circles General Sir William Robertson is considered likely to be named to the office.

The change, if made, will be made with grace, and to the nation Kitchener will in no way appear as the loser. The general prediction is that Lord Kitchener will be sent to the far east, where the Turco-German menace to the Suez canal, and ultimately to India is admittedly developing into a reality.

There has long been a tendency to the belief that a strong general head is needed to oppose the military genius of Field Marshal von Goltz, the German commander now directing the three inter-department theaters of war in Asia and destined to lead the drive on Suez. No other man for this task could be found in the British empire, according to all military critics here, than Lord Kitchener.

Nevertheless there could already be perceived a triumphant note in the camps of Kitchener's opponents and in that section of the press that has been hammering at him relentlessly ever since he took the office of war secretary.

WITHOUT HAT OR COAT.

West Virginia Man May Found a New Health Cult.

A new health cult may be founded in Wheeling, W. Va., following the great success achieved by Joseph Bleifus, who has not worn a hat in two years and has not had even the semblance of a cold in that time. Bleifus has not only gone hatless for two years, but he has also gone coatless. In all kinds of weather he has gone about without hat, coat or overcoat, and he has not been sick during that time.

Bleifus is a big strapping fellow not yet out of his teens and with his brothers conducts a meat market. He is regarded as one of the finest specimens of physical manhood in the city. Bicycle riding induced him to shed surplus clothing. He found hats and coats cumbersome and superfluous, got out of the habit of wearing them and then passed them up altogether.

COMFORTING WORDS

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice will prove comforting words to hundreds of Seymour readers.

Mrs. A. Story, 312 W. Brown St., Seymour, says: "I had dull, nagging pains in the small of my back. I felt dull and languid and had frequent dizzy headaches. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, sometimes being too frequent and then again scanty. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Meyer's Drug Store, relieved the backaches, regulated the action of my kidneys and benefited me in every way."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Story had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SOCIABLE PENGUINS.

Visits Not Appreciated by Explorers in the Antarctic.

R. E. Priestley of Captain Scott's antarctic expedition relates an amusing experience with Adelle penguins off Flagstaff point. The Terra Nova had landed a party to take off geological specimens, but the men had some difficulty in keeping the penguins away from the boat.

As we lay alongside the ice foot, says the author in his "Antarctic Adventure," we blocked the birds' access to their rookery, but that did not seem to bother the penguins in the least. They would rise out of the water a few yards off, take a glance at the boat, which they doubtless took for a stranded floe, and then disappear. From previous experience I knew what was coming and looked with interest for the next act, but the boatman who was helping me get the specimens off board was new to the vagaries of the Adelle.

I was unable to judge which was the more surprised, the sailor or the penguins, when the latter landed, half a dozen at a time, upright in the bottom of the boat. Certainly the penguins were most annoyed, and directly they found that they were trapped they assaulted the poor man with unreasoning fury, so that it was no easy matter to pitch them back into the sea.

It was on a similar occasion that an Adelle penguin, seeing what he thought was a handy piece of ice, leaped out of the water and landed on the knees of the boatswain who was in the stern. He looked the man in the face, gave one hysterical squawk of horror and shot into the sea. I have never seen a face show greater astonishment than that of our respected boatswain unless it were the penguin's.

EXPECT FALL OF DURAZZO

Capture By Austrians Is Conceded Imminent.

DELAY ATTACK ON SALONICA

Terrific Artillery Engagements Mark Operations on Western Front—Offensive Movement on Large Scale Expected Shortly—Lens Bombarded.

London, Feb. 8.—The fall of Durazzo, capital and seaport of Albania, is conceded here to be imminent. No resistance is expected to be offered by the small army of Essad Pasha, supported by fragments of the former Serbian army. Now that the Bulgars and Austrians have joined hands, repeating the plan of strategy followed in the invasion of Serbia, Durazzo is as good as given up by the Italians who, however, are determined to defend Avlona to the last.

Rome dispatches state that Austrian cavalry has reached the Arzenti river, only four miles from Durazzo, and is awaiting the arrival of the bulk of the Austrian army which is rapidly advancing, having crossed the river Ishai on Sunday. El Bassan is in the invaders hands.

There was nothing to substantiate the reports that the drive on Salonica has actually begun. Supplementary dispatches bear out the theory that these reports were caused by skirmishes around the neutral zone. Military observers believe that a general offensive against the allies in Greece will not be undertaken until the operations in Albania have been brought to completion.

Interest in the increased tension in Roumania and the central powers was somewhat decreased by the announcement that the British government has received definite information that reports of a Teutonic ultimatum to Roumania are unfounded.

Terrific artillery engagements marked the operations on the western front during the last twenty-four hours. All official reports show unabated activity by the big guns, particularly in Belgium and in the Arras, Oise and Somme sectors of the front in northern France. The unceasing duel of heavy artillery supports the theory that one side or the other shortly will attempt an energetic infantry offensive on a large scale. The German war office reported a renewed vigorous bombardment of Lens, while the British statement tells of violent German artillery fire around Loos.

NEW PROHIBITION PLAN

Propose to Exclude John Barleycorn From Interstate Traffic.

Washington, Feb. 8.—A new method was suggested in the senate committee on judiciary for dealing with the liquor traffic in a federal way. Senator Dillingham of Vermont offered an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the Sheppard resolution, proposing a constitutional amendment for nation-wide prohibition, proposing to exclude intoxicants from interstate commerce.

The members of the judiciary committee devoted the rest of the session of the committee to a discussion of the Dillingham proposal.

If the Dillingham method is adopted in dealing with John Barleycorn, it will bring nation-wide prohibition a step nearer, because such a result could be attained by a simple statute without waiting for the slow process of ratification of a constitutional amendment by the states.

Found Helpless In Cellar.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Margaret Van Trees, age sixty-one, who lives alone here, lay unconscious and helpless in her cellar, which had several inches of water in it, until a neighbor found her. Mrs. Van Trees had fallen through the cellar door in her kitchen, suffering a broken arm.

HOUSES PASS TWO BILLS FOR BIG NAVY

Measures Approved Without Roll Call.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Speaker Clark and Republican Leader Mann fought side by side in the house for adequate national defense. With party lines obliterated most of the members followed their leaders and two navy measures passed without a dissenting vote. One, to provide for adding 300 midshipmen to the entering class at Annapolis next July, passed 173 to 0, and the other to equip navy yards for construction of battleships Nos. 42 and 44, passed without a roll call.

All the big guns in the house, with the exception of Democratic Leader Kitchin, took part in the debate, and all declared themselves in favor of adequate national defense. Speaker

Clark, Former Speaker Cannon, Republican Leader Mann, Chairman Padgett and many others, who are advocating preparedness, made addresses while the pacifists held their peace.

The debate was notable for many reasons. In the first place Speaker Clark proclaimed his belief in preparedness, and announced that he would discuss the subject at length later in the session. Mr. Kitchin, true to his promise to the president that he would oppose the program only in his personal capacity, remained silent and all the "little navy" members remained in their seats when the vote was called for on the midshipmen bill, and Speaker Clark said he hoped no member of the house would vote against it.

BOWEN COMPLETES DEFENSE

Banker's Case Expected to Go to Jury Thursday.

Noblesville, Ind., Feb. 8.—Attorneys for George Bowen, former president of the defunct Hamilton Trust company, said they expected to end their evidence in the case today. Bowen is accused of stealing $2,700 from the trust company a few days before it was closed by the state banking department. Present indications are that the case will go to the jury Thursday night.

Evidence introduced tended to show that the draft for $2,700 on which Bowen was indicted, was written by Bowen, but that one date on the paper, afterwards erased, had been written by J. H. Bowen, a brother of the defendant, who is now dead. Witnesses for the defense were Clarence Bowen, a nephew of George Bowen; George Christian and John Dulin, receiver of the trust company.

40,000 GIRLS TO STRIKE

Waist and Dressmakers Demand Less Hours and Higher Wages.

New York, Feb. 8.—It is expected that approximately 40,000 girls employed in some 600 waist and dress-making shops in this city, will quit work in a general strike for increased wages and less hours of work. These workers demand the same concessions which were ordered by the board of arbitrators which settled a strike of 20,000 girls employed in the shops of the Waist and Dress Manufacturers association by granting a forty-nine-hour week, higher wages and other demands of the strikers.

Jacob Miller, chairman of the general strike committee of the householders, wrapper and kimono makers, announced that 10,000 girls in about 300 shops went on strike for similar demands. At the same time officials of the Ladies Waist and Dressmakers' Union stated that 20,000 girls employed in the independent shops, and 20,000 girls employed in shirt making, were prepared to walk out to enforce their demands.

SHORTEN HOURS OF LABOR

Studebaker Company at South Bend (Ind.) Makes Change.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 8.—March 1, the regular working hours of the South Bend plant of the Studebaker corporation will be reduced from fifty-five hours per week to fifty hours a week, divided into nine hours per day for five days and five hours on Saturdays.

To adjust wages to the new working hours all piece rates on hour rates will be increased 10 per cent. In speaking of this action A. A. Erskine, the president, said: "For some time our officials have been considering the possibility of reducing our working hours at South Bend, and we concluded to take definite action at this time in recognition of the loyalty of our South Bend employees."

This action affects about 4,500 men, and will cost the corporation about $360,000 per annum.

CHAPTER VII

Between the hour of writing her note to Alan and the moment when she stepped on the train Alix had had no time to think. She was still driven by the impulse of anger that Gerry's words had aroused. She did not reflect that the wound was only to her pride. Alan held open the door of the drawing room. She passed in and he closed it. Alix threw back her veil and looked at him. With a quick stride forward he caught her to him and kissed her mouth until she gasped for breath. With a flash she remembered his own words, "If I ever kiss you I shall bring your soul out between your lips." To Alix' amazement she did not feel an answering fire. The kiss had brought her soul out between her lips. Her soul stood naked before her and one's naked soul is an ugly thing. The kiss disrobed her, too, and from that last bourne of shame Alix suddenly revolted.

Gasping, she pushed Alan from her. Their eyes met. His were burning, hers were frightened. She moved slowly backward to the door and with her hand behind her opened the latch. Alan did not move. He knew that if he could not hold her with his eyes he could not hold her at all. The train started. Alix passed through the door and rushed to the platform. The porter was about to drop the trap on the steps. Alix slipped by him. With all her force she pushed open the door and jumped. The train was moving very slowly but Alix reeled and would have fallen had it not been for a passing baggageman. He caught her and, still in his arms, Alix looked back. Alan's white face was at the window. He looked steadily at her.

"Ye almost wint with him, Miss," said the baggageman, with a full brogue and a twinkling eye.

"How did you know?" said Alix, dazed.

At the strange question the baggageman's longer upper lip drew down to gravity. "Where d'ye think I was when ye stipt off the thrain into me arms?" he asked solemnly.

"That's right," said Alix as she followed his lead to a cab. She got in and then shook hands with her escort. He looked at the dollar bill her grasp left behind.

"That wasn't called for, Miss. It was enough for me to have saved ye from a fall."

"You didn't save me," said Alix with a bewildering smile. "I saved myself."

Alix was tired and hungry when she got back home but excitement kept her up. She felt that she stood on the threshold of new effort and a new life. After all, she thought, it was she that had made her dear old Gerry into a time-server. She could have made him into anything else if she had tried. She longed to tell him so. Perhaps he would catch her and crush her in his arms as Alan had done. She laughed at herself for wanting him. She rang for the butler. "Where's your master, John?"

"I don't know, ma'am. Mr. Gerry hasn't come back since he went out this morning." To John, Mr. Lansing was a person who had been dead for some time. His present overlord was Mr. and Mrs. Gerry and Mrs. Lansing when she was in town.

"Telephone to the club and if he is there tell him I want to see him," said Alix and turned to her welcome tea. The sandwiches seemed unusually small to her ravenous appetite.

Gerry was not at the club. Alix dressed resplendently for dinner. Never had she dressed for any other man with the care that she dressed for Gerry that night. But Gerry did not come. At half-past nine Alix ordered the table cleared. "I'll not dine tonight," she said to John. "When your master comes, show him in here." She sat on in the library listening for Gerry's step in the hall.

From time to time John came into the room to replenish the fire. On one of these occasions Alix told him he might go to bed but an hour later he returned and stood in the door. Alix looked very small, curled up in a great leather chair by the fire.

"It's after one o'clock, ma'am," said John. "Mr. Gerry won't be coming in tonight." Alix made no answer. John held his ground. "It's time for you to go to bed, ma'am. Shall I call the maid?"

It was a long time since John had taken any apparent interest in his mistress. Alix had avoided him. She had felt that the old servant disapproved of her. More than once she had thought of discharging him but he had never given her grounds that would justify her before Gerry. Now he was ordering her to bed and instead of being angry she was soothed. She wondered how she could ever have thought of discharging him. He seemed strong and restless, more like part of the old house than a servant. Alix got up. "No, don't call the maid. I won't need her," she said. Then she added, "Good-night, John," as she passed out.

John held wide the door and bowed with a deference that was a touch more sincere than usual. He answered, "Good-night," as if he meant it.

Alix was exhausted but it was long before she fell asleep. She cried softly. She wanted to be comforted. She had dressed so beautifully—she had been so beautiful—and Gerry had not come home. As she cried, her disappointment grew into a great trouble.

She awoke early from a feverish sleep. Immediately a sense of weight assailed her. She rang and learned that Gerry had not yet come home. Then his words of yesterday suddenly came to her. "If I dropped out of the world today—" Alix stared wide-eyed at the ceiling. Why had she remembered those words? She lay for a long time thinking. Her breakfast was brought to her but she did not touch it. It was almost noon in the cloudy Sunday morning when she roused herself from apathy. She sprang from the bed. She summoned Judge Healey with a note and Mrs. Lansing with a telegram. The telegram was carefully worded, "Please come and stay for a while. Gerry is away."

The judge found Alix radiating the freshness of a beautiful woman careful of her person, but it was the freshness of a pale flower. Alix was grave and her gravity had a sweetness that made the judge's heart bound. He felt an awakening in her that he had long watched for. She told him all the story of the day before in a steady monotone that omitted nothing and gave the facts only their own weight.

When she finished the judge patted her hand. "You would make a splendid witness, my dear," he said. "Now, what you want is for me to find Gerry and bring him back, isn't it? Are you sure Gerry knew nothing of your—er—excursion to the station?"

Alix shook her head. "From the time he left my room and the house he has not been back."

"Has he been to the club?" Alix colored faintly. "I see," said the judge quickly. "I'll ask there. I'll go now." He went off and all that day he sought in vain for a trace of Gerry. He went to all his haunts in the city—he had telephoned to those outside. At night he returned to Alix but it was Mrs. Lansing that received him in the library.

The judge was tired and his buoyancy had deserted him. He told her of his failure. Mrs. Lansing was thoughtful but not greatly troubled.

"Gerry," she said, "has a level head. He can take care of himself." She went to tell Alix that there was no news. When she came back the judge turned to her. "Well," he asked, "what did she say?"

"Nothing, except that she wanted to know if you had tried the bank."

The judge struck his fist into his left hand. "Never thought of it," he said. "That child has a head!" He went to the telephone. From the president of the bank he traced the manager, from the manager, the cashier. Yes, Gerry had been at the bank on Saturday. The cashier remembered it because Mr. Lansing had drawn a certain account in full. He would not say how much.

"There," said the judge with a sigh of relief, "that's something. It takes a steady nerve to draw a bank account in full. You must take the news upstairs. I'm off. I'll follow up the clue tomorrow."

There was a new look of content mingled with the worry in Mrs. Lansing's face that made the judge say as he held out his hand in farewell, "Things better?"

Mrs. Lansing understood him. "Yes," she answered, and added, "we have been crying together."

Mrs. Lansing and Alix had never given themselves to each other. There had been no warfare between them but equally there had never been understanding. To Mrs. Lansing's inherent calm, Alix' scintillation had been repellent and Alix before Gerry's mother had felt much the same restraint as before Gerry's old butler.

There had been strength in Mrs. Lansing's calm. She had been waiting and now the waiting was over. Alix had given herself tearful and almost wordless into arms that were more than ready and had then poured out her heart in a broken tale that would have confounded any court of justice but which between women was clearer than logic.

At the end Mrs. Lansing said nothing. Instead she petted Alix, carried her off to bed and kept her there for three days. In her waking hours Alix added spasmodic bits to her confession—sage reflections after the event, dreamy "I wonder" that speculated in the past and in the measure of her emotions.

Mrs. Lansing sat and listened and sewed. Her soft brown hair just touched with gray, her calm face with its half-hidden strength, her steady eyes, turned now on Alix, now on her work, brought peace into the room and held it there in spite of the disquieting lack of news of Gerry.

When she spoke at last it was to say half-shyly, "You are stronger than I had thought. I believe every woman at the actual moment of surrender feels an impulse of shame and fear. During that moment desire lets go of her. It's the last chance that fate holds out. The women who fail to take the chance—it seems to me they fall through weakness of spirit and not of flesh."

"More women are ruined by circumstance than by desire. Women decide to burn their bridges behind them and then they think they've burned them. All the circumstances were against you. There wasn't a loophole in the net. Fate gave you your moment and you tore your way out."

On the fourth day Alix got up but on the fifth she stayed in bed. Mrs. Lansing found her pale and frightened. She had been crying.

"Alix," she whispered, kneeling beside the bed, "what is it?"

Alix told her amid sobs. "Oh, my dear," said Mrs. Lansing, throwing her arms around her, "don't cry. Don't worry. The strength will come with the need. In the end you'll be glad. So will Gerry. So will all of us."

"It isn't that," said Alix, faintly. "Oh, it isn't that. I'm just thinking and thinking how terrible it would have been if I had run away—really run away. I keep imagining how awful it would have been. It is nightmare."

"Call it nightmare if you like, sweetheart, but just remember that you are awake."

"Yes," said Alix softly. "I am awake now. I want to watch the Hill come to life and dress up for the summer. It will amuse me. It's long since I have watched for the first buds and the first swallows. I won't mind the melting snow and the mud. It's so long since I've seen clean country mud. I want to smell it."

"You don't know how bleak the Hill can be before the spring comes," objected Mrs. Lansing.

"Will it be any bleaker with me there than when you were alone?" asked Alix.

Mrs. Lansing came over to her and kissed her. "No, dear," she said.

WOMAN SHOTS MINISTER

Enraged Farmer's Wife Asserts Victim Had Slandered Her.

Sherman, Tex., Feb. 8.—Because she claimed the Rev. J. M. Cagle, aged forty, a prominent Baptist minister, had slandered her, Mrs. Annie Faust, wife of a farmer, sought out Cagle on the public square here and shot him four times. The preacher is dying. A flying bullet hit an elevator boy in a building nearby, inflicting a flesh wound.

Cagle declared he had only a few hours to live and demanded that he be taken immediately to his wife. "I want to talk to her before I die," he declared. The shooting followed an interview Mrs. Faust's brother-in-law had with the preacher recently in which the minister had talked about the woman's reputation.

NOTHING HEARD FROM THE COMMISSION ABOUT HEARING

City Officials Are Urging That Second Electric Franchise Be Approved at Once.

Nothing further has been heard by the city officials concerning the date of the hearing before the Indiana public service commission regarding the granting of a second electric light franchise. The ordinance providing for the franchise has been passed by the city council but is not operative until it is approved by the commission.

The hearing was originally set for Monday, but the latter part of last week Secretary Reilly of the commission stated that it would not be held on that date because of the rush of other business. One member of the commission is in the south, the city officials have learned, and they do not know when to look for the hearing to be set. They are anxious that the franchise be approved soon and are pushing their petition before the commissioners.
